Principal's Message

As Victoria School's principal, I am delighted to work with such a dedicated and talented community of students and staff. It is an honour to be part of your educational journey.

Visitors to our school are amazed by the quality of your work. Guests immediately sense that this is a school unlike any other. From the vibrant artwork and murals in the hallways, to the sound of music and dance coming from classrooms, our school literally pulses with creative energy. It is also a place where students balance their love of the arts with academic excellence.

This year, Victoria students have helped energize and inspire the community by exhibiting art at City Hall through The Works Festival, the Jubilee Auditorium for Night of Music, and the Alberta College of Art. They have sung with the Richard Eaton Singers, the Alberta Baroque Ensemble, and Pro Coro Canada. They have performed with Senator Tommy Banks at the Winspear Centre. They have danced on stage with the acclaimed Citie Ballet and performed for Northern Light Theatre's 30th Anniversary at the Art Gallery of Alberta. Reaching the community over the airwaves, they produced a weekly program on CKUA Radio called Catch the Wave. In addition, they have entertained thousands of audience members as part of this year's performance and exhibition season, Perchance to Dream.

One of our school's top priorities is to continue to enhance the integration of academic and artistic programming. Vic students have opportunities to broaden their experiences by working across disciplines and integrating arts courses with core academic courses whenever possible. By nurturing a strong spirit of inquiry and character traits that promote disciplined, thoughtful study, Victoria gives students the capacity to demonstrate high achievement and to grow as productive and caring global citizens. I commend our highly skilled, dedicated staff, supportive parents and community partners, who work daily to help students achieve their maximum potential.

For those of you who are moving on to new adventures, it is gratifying to know Victoria graduates are sought after by some of North America's most prestigious post-secondary institutions, as well as by respected arts and theatre organizations at home and abroad. I am sure each of you will find success in your chosen careers.

I encourage those of you returning to Vic next year to get involved in the many activities that we offer. We strongly support the philosophy that education helps each of us to recognize and develop the beautiful complexity and strength that is our humanity. We want you to share your energy and talent with others. This yearbook is a true celebration of everything that makes Vic so unique.

Students, I have one wish for you: Live your lives in such a way that reflects credit upon yourselves, your parents and your community. I echo the sentiments of all our staff when I wish you all the best in your future endeavours.

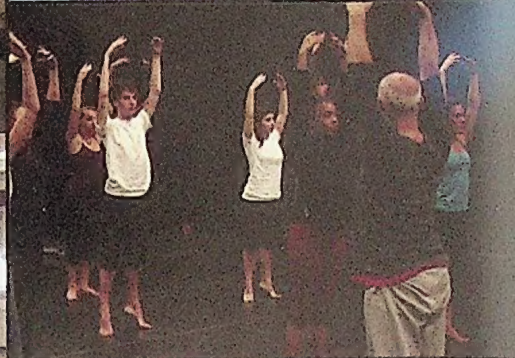

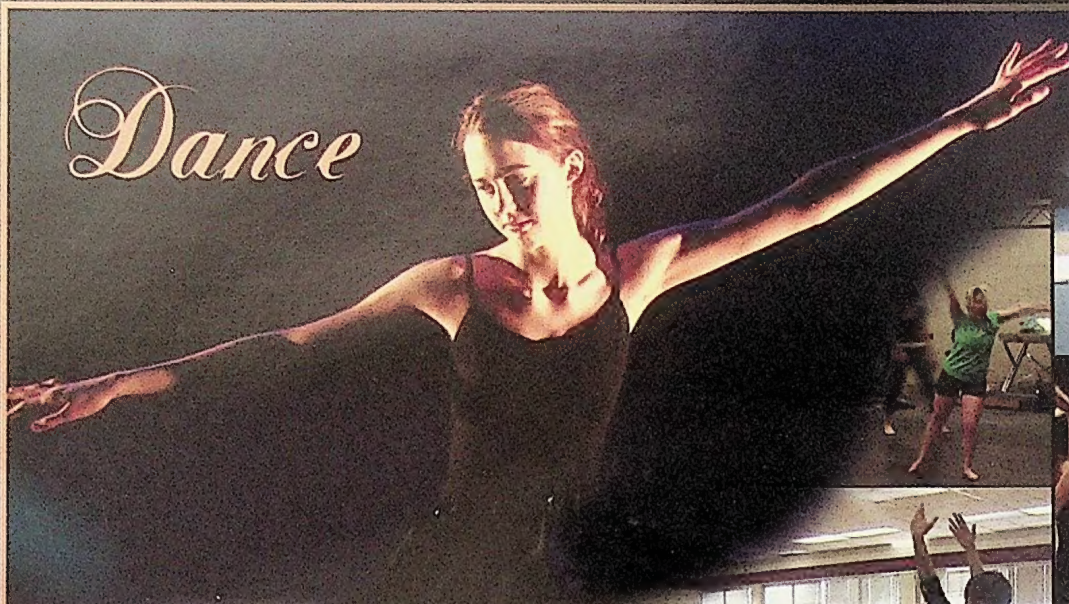

Ingrid Neitsch
Principal

Alex Abenojar

As a Graduate, I have discovered that among the necessities of life, the most important is living. I am so grateful for the years that I have enjoyed at Vic. My Friends, the Teachers, and in general, the school has given me a big impact on life. The three years that I have been in Vic has been a most memorable moment for me. I am grateful and glad that I have experienced the moments and memories in high school. Thanks to all and congrats to the Grads of 2006!!

"Graduation is only a concept. In real life every day you graduate. Graduation is a process that goes on until the last day of your life. If you can grasp that, you'll make a difference."

- Arie Pencovici

Chuck Ackroyd

Alex Adams

"Don't worry - you will find the answer if you let it go. Give yourself some time to falter. But don't forgo knowing that you're loved no matter what. And everything will come around in time."

- Sarah McLachlan

Dorian Aeichele

Sarah Ainsley

Thank you to my friends, family, and teachers for all the laughs and memories. I will never forget any of you!

"Go confidently in the direction of your dreams. Live the life you have imagined."

A moonlit dance floor
A temple for the willing
And for those who seek it
A most sacred reward
The sultry beat pulses
Cool midnight sand beneath my toes
I dance until my soul is ablaze
We'll rock to the eager motion of our
Long awaited treasure
Just seek that place where water meets sky
If only to encompass eternity
For one crystallized moment
.... We set sail at dawn

"I opened my fingers a crack, like a child with a secret, and smiled at the silver globe cupped in my palm. If I dropped it, it would break into a million little replicas of itself, and if I pushed them near each other, they would fuse, without a crack, into one whole again."

- Sylvia Plath

I promise that I'll never forget you.

Danielle Annicchiarico

There must be quite a few things a hot bath won't cure, but I don't know many of them. You be him, and I'll be her.

Sophie Austin

Steven Babish

"ARE you scared the album will end before the door bell rings, and you'll be left to be left greet your guests with a tied tongue, cold lunch, and spent wick candle, as the floor board creek, and the pipes ping and pong beneath you...MAYBE I've been playing the part of a falling stone who tries to catch the wind. The man with the negative wing span."

Steven Babiuk

Samantha Balzer

"There are many Beths in the world, shy and quiet, sitting in corners till needed, and living for others so cheerfully that no one sees the sacrifices till the little cricket on the hearth stops chirping, and the sweet, sunshiny presence vanishes, leaving silence and shadow behind."

-Louisa May Alcott, Little Women

Thousands of thanks to Mr. Howe, and everyone who taught me that being a Beth isn't so bad.

Lucy Bamforth

In the crossover that runs along the back of the Eva. O. Howard stage, there is a quote painted on the wall that reads: "Mediocrity is not accepted here." It is my favorite quote. If I can't find the words to say goodbye to Victoria, I will say this: thank you for being extraordinary, and always remember to dream.

Mallory Bard

If you can imagine it, you can achieve it. If you can dream it, you can become it.

-William Arthur Ward

During my six years at Vic, there have been so many great moments and amazing people that I will never forget. Special thanks go out to all my friends, family and teachers who have been there to guide me through the Vic years and have helped me reach my dreams and goals. As I continue on in my life, these people and memories will stay with me along the way.

Kati Belanger

Dance, dance, dance little lady/ Leave tomorrow behind.

- Noel Coward

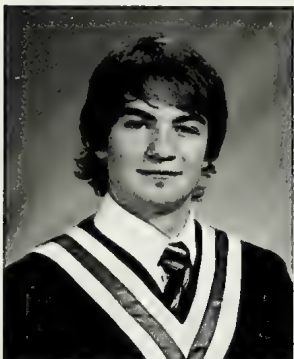

People will do things for religion they won't do for cash.

- Mr. Sproule

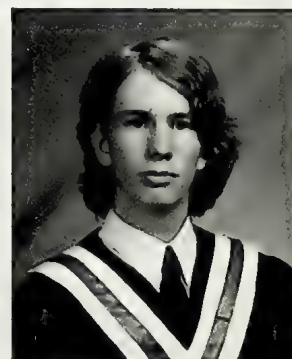

Every heart is a package tangled up in knots someone else tied

- Josh Ritter "Kathleen"

Open your hearts and spill them out on the world.
Don't be afraid. Love and be loved.
God Bless

Gareth Borgstrom

Chelsea Borys

I want to thank everyone for all the great memories that I have shared in my eight years at Vic. I want to thank my family and friends who have helped me through the stressful times and have helped to make me laugh when I just needed to laugh.

"Risk! Risk anything! Care no more for the opinion of others, for those voices. Do the hardest thing on earth for you. Act for yourself. Face the truth."
— Katherine Mansfield

Always do what you feel is right. Always say YES to your dreams!

Lara Boss

"Be glad of life because it gives you the chance to love, to work, to play, and to look up at the stars."
— Henry Van Dyke

I have learned that life is full of amazing laughs and experiences that have helped me become who I am today. It's been 8 years at Vic that I will never forget and everyone I have met here has taught me something about life. And of course my friends, you mean the world to me. Adios amigos, until next time.

Saige Boyd-Freeman

Kevin Boyer

Thanks for the great years, and the unforgettable memories.

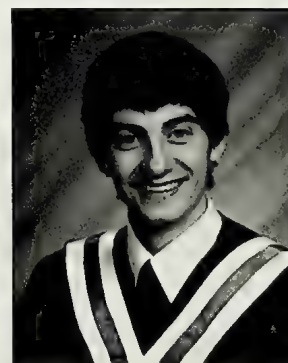

I'll never forget; Gameau, Juan, Al, Mr.E, Mac Pappy and Mr.D.

Jamie Bracke

Going to Vic has given me an unprecedented appreciation for the arts, especially for my love in music. I've realized that there is so much more to music than black ink on a page; that even moments of silence are capable of evoking passion and emotion.

I love you so much Succexy, my A-star.... never ever stop the model poses!!! Shawn, I couldn't have done it without you, thanks for always being there for me.

Shawn Bracke

My time at Vic. has actually been awesome. As cliché as this sounds, I met a lot of great people and have had a lot of opportunities that I know that I wouldn't have been able to have had anywhere else. We always call this school dirt but we all know there's no where else we'd rather be. To the people who knew me on a closer level thanks for putting up with me and maybe one day in the future we'll meet up and have a good laugh over how stupid we were!

Devonne Brandys

Time is something you cannot hold on to. Once you realize it has past, you see all of the amazing things you have experienced and will forever remember. I thank all of my amazing friends and will always love and remember them and all of the amusing things we have done and taught each other. It is true that the things you fear the most, are always the most worthwhile.

Three years here at Vic have come and gone and I am so thankful that I came here instead of anywhere else. Vic allowed me to see that eccentricity can and will be accepted in a society. There was so much passion and talent at Vic that I became consumed in my own passion, art, and now that I am graduating, must enter the real world... which unfortunately, is nothing like our little world at Vic. Hopefully, I am not too naive to be a part of any real society...and hopefully this graduating class will make a difference in the world: installing acceptance and creativity into the world.

From confusion is born certainty, from certainty is born more confusion. Tottering on the brink of an eternity I discover that somewhere in the crevice between Ibsen and Redox is the comfort that I still know nothing. Certainly that's the most important lesson I've learned from this story with it's "Beginning, Middle, and 'Grand Finale' Followed by Silence and Falling Rain." That and to never take anything too seriously.

This afternoon, the speech you are hearing is the product of a collaborative process influenced by a diverse range of individuals and ideas. I believe that as individuals with unique personalities and aspirations, we are also the sum of a similar collaborative process influenced by our family, teachers, and peers. To understand how, let us dissect the specific elements of this equation in more detail.

Our family is, for much of the first decade of our life, the archetypal "pillar of strength" around which we grow and develop. Family, and parents in particular, are for their children what a script is for an actor or a score is for a musician; they provide the initial elements that form the basis of who we will become, but we are left to decide for ourselves, like any artist, which elements we would like to incorporate into the final masterpiece, which is our own unique persona. Graduates, a time has, or will come soon, when each of us will forge our own paths, but undoubtedly many of our life decisions will be based upon the beliefs and values instilled in us by our families.

Teachers undertake the mission of shaping our understanding of the world, before we have truly experienced it for ourselves. Teachers, through your classes we have relived the greatest scientific and mathematical discoveries and achievements of human-kind over the last millennia; we have experienced what it means to be armed with information that will allow us to participate fully in the political process of our country and our world; we have been exposed to emotional extremes of love and hate, sadness and euphoria, triumph and defeat through the eyes of unforgettable literary characters; and we have had to opportunity to practise our art in an atmosphere that fosters creativity. As teachers, you have prepared us well, and we will rely constantly on your lessons as we venture out into the world.

The third variable in this equation is our peers; those people with whom we shared our life experiences. We work with them, play with them, laugh with them, yell at them, compete with them, commiserate with them, do stupid things with them, and do great things with them. While our parents and teachers may have helped shape our personal attitudes towards life and towards the world, our peers have helped us to question these attitudes, and it is through this process that we have developed into the unique individuals we are today.

At Victoria School, diversity flourishes, in personalities, in ideas, and in the achievements and aspirations of graduating students. But the common denominator that underlies this diversity is passion. Anyone who has walked through the halls of Vic realizes that there is a certain energy that the school and the people within it seem to radiate. Passion is the source of this energy. Passion is the fuel for our creative minds, it is the inspiration that motivates us to take risks and try new things, it is a stimulus for free thinking that allows us to develop new and original ideas, and it is passion that gives life and exuberance to the school and to the people, including us graduates, who have spent time within its walls.

But so what? Why is passion so important in the big scheme of our world? I believe that it is through the contributions of passionate people that change in our world occurs and by which we grow and evolve as a society. It doesn't matter where we are, what our interests are, what our life objectives may be, or what we may be doing to achieve those objectives, if we live and act with passion, we will impact the world in far greater ways than we realize.

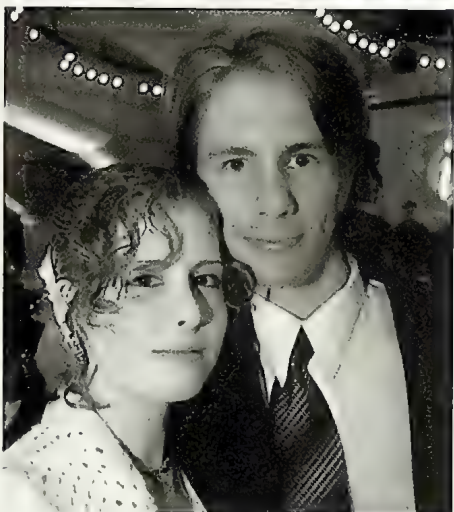

Graduates, during our years at Vic we have learned, practised, and rehearsed our passion. Each one of us has been influenced by family, teachers, and peers, and we must recognise and thank those individuals who have helped us to become the people we are today. This afternoon the world lies before us like a stage and we are ready to give passionate performances that will help to shape the world of tomorrow.

Thank you very much.

Hurricanes ravage the Gulf Coast region in the fall of 2005, posing an unprecedented test of the United States federal emergency response efforts. Hundreds of lives are lost and thousands are left homeless in the wake of Category 4 hurricane Katrina, followed by Rita and Wilma. The tragedy spurs contributions of money, talents, homes, food and more in an attempt to raise spirits and rebuild the area.

August

- 25 Hurricane Katrina strikes Florida.
- 28 Mandatory evacuation of both New Orleans and Mississippi is ordered as Katrina becomes a Category 5 storm in the Gulf of Mexico.
- 29 Downgraded to a Category 4 storm, Katrina hits land. 1.3 million homes and businesses lose electricity in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. 30 levees are breached, flooding New Orleans and leaving 100,000 people stranded. After slow government response, civil unrest and looting begins.
- 31 President Bush surveys the damage.

September

- 1 30,000 U.S. National Guard troops are deployed. Gas prices spike to as high as $5 per gallon in the U.S., and $1.34 per litre in Canada.
- 2 President Bush visits Louisiana and signs a $10.5 billion relief bill. Nearly 154,000 evacuees arrive in Texas.
- 4 The New Orleans Superdome is evacuated.
- 6 President Bush and Congress pledge to investigate the flawed disaster response.
- 9 Government-issued debit cards are distributed to evacuees. The program fails and is ended days later.
- 12 Mike Brown, head of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, resigns. Flooding is down to 50 percent in New Orleans.
- 14 New Orleans Mayor Ray Nagin announces a phased repopulation plan.
- 15 New Orleans begins to reopen. Katrina is named the most destructive hurricane in U.S. history.
- 20 Louisiana Governor Kathleen Blanco declares a state of emergency as Hurricane Rita strengthens off the coast.
- 22 Rita hits the Louisiana coast and heads for Texas.
- 23 Thousands evacuate eastern Texas and the 9th Ward of New Orleans floods once again after levees are overrun.

October

- 24 Hurricane Wilma hits southwest Florida.
